Executive Proclamation

Office Of The Governor

WHEREAS, The Loud Stranger has done more to eradicate silence, humility and good taste in the workplace than Attila the Hun and Mangy the Mongol; and,

WHEREAS, The Loud Stranger has done more to stifle age-old "up-front" scheme business practices within the confines of this state than any other recent SA; and,

WHEREAS, The Loud Stranger furthered the cause of amateur water sports, irrespective of previous or ongoing business commitments during a standard 8-hour day, and he has put the last hour of the work day to better use than merely finishing jobs unaccomplished thus far; and,

WHEREAS, The Loud Stranger has successfully kept Bucar mileage from mounting unnecessarily on its odometer, despite an occupation which demands the practitioner's presence elsewhere; and,

WHEREAS, The Loud Stranger has successfully avoided a great many new, unwanted cases, telephone calls and official visitors because he was too busy, didn't care, or didn't give a d---, while single-handedly keeping numerous SA's busy with HIS work; and,

WHEREAS, The Loud Stranger knows more, tells more, extrapolates more, wins more, leads more, brags more and does more than anyone else, living or dead, EVER; and,

WHEREAS, The Loud Stranger has complained loud, long and often about motor patrol unit radios, base station radios, radio communications, buzzers, TV cameras, registered mail, lead coverage and Bucar catalytic converters, while bearing an obscure malady, subsequently named in his honor, AIRTELOSIS, characterized by the excess production of immediate communications between one who cares and one who doesn't; and,

WHEREAS, After a long and distinguished career, the Loud Stranger will retire from the ranks of the Federal Bureau of Investigation:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, WILLIAM J. JANKLOW, Governor of the State of South Dakota, do hereby proclaim November 14, 1985, as

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the State of South Dakota, in Pierre, the Capital City, this Seventh Day of November, in the Year of Our Lord, Nineteen Hundred and Eighty-Five
